It is that only which will prevent Chicago, now young, vigorous, ambitious and comparatively free of debt, from following the example of the other and elder cities of the country which are dither rainously taxed or utterly bankrupt. We hope to see the Republican Mayor and Council adopt ii, and live by it as long as they are in office. The other course is the easiest, and without doubt the most convenient. Bonds can be printed cheaper than gold can be coined. They would sell well in market. They would enable the corporation to pay works which the city might have and some day will have. The city of New York governed at a cost of more than eight millious raised by general tax; the city of Philadelphia, heels over head in dobt; the city of Cincinnati, struggling against financial ruln; the cities of Pittsburgh and Buffalo in the same strait; the cities of Milwaukee, Keokuk, and Dubuque, shamefully penalties which attach to this business of bond making by municipal corporations. The credit of Chicago is unimpeached. As she is the almost only Republican city of over 100,000 people, in the Union, let her be the only one that keeps clear of that rock upon which most American cities have stranded—that rock We learn that those who have projected and are willing to undertake the building of a Horse Railroad on the North Side, meet with negative destacles in the unwillingness of the Common Council to give them the nece sary authority for laying down their track. We cannot conceive that, with the experience of the older cities before our municipal legis-lators, they can hesitate, if the Company is willing to enter into proper stipulations touching the use of the power with which they are nized as among the established improven of the age. That they will pay divid in advance, then, with any bonus which must which will result only in preventing their con-struction, and by which much comfort and convenionee will be denied to those for whom governments are instituted. Chicago is fortunate in the possession of a large number of works of art, that would do no discredit to any gallery in the Old World; and when they are collected, as they soon will be, in one room, and artistically arranged, we shall be disappointed if the public do not find in them cause of surprise and gratification. THE RELLAND

PAY AS YOU GO.

There is but one way in which the Republican City Administration can make good its pledges to the people who have placed it in power. Let it pay as it goos. When a sirect is to be graded, filled and paved; when a sidewalk is to be built; when any improvement is to be undertaken, let the money for the same be assessed and collected before the job is let; then all subsequent steps will be cheap and easy. The cash system is, if any thing, more imperatively necessary for the good credit of corporations than for individuals. It is that only which will make the people watchful of the expenditures of those whom they have placed in power. It is that only which will make tax-payers invariably attentive to their political duties in connection with the DEPRAUDING A WINOW .- Two brothers name Herner are in limbo and in trouble charged with the attempt to defrand a widow residing at the Calumet. The brethren had fixed their eyes Calumet. The Brethren had fixed their eyes upon the dame and perticularly her property, and being unable to get the latter without the incumbrance of the dame herself, the elder brother decided to marry her, and then, she consenting, became Mrs. Christian Herner, and the honeymoon commenced. The wife brought to Christian (a misnomer we fear) $200 in money, a watch, a farm and its stock.

A short time after the marriage, the doting husband prevailed upon the massaperting widow to pay a visit to some of her relatives, and during the visit, selved upon the money and watch and with the help of his brother, drove the live stock into this city, and shipped them on board the propeller Montevama for St. Joseph.

The widow upon her return had her speculating husband arrested, and he was yesterday morning held to trial for further examination.

THE PLANT QUESTION THE PLUMBED OUT AND CRADIT LARP.—We are sure the the public will never weary of the question, to the solution of which so much skill and capital is being devoted, which so much skill and capital is being devoted, the question how to scoure for general use a cheap, practicable, and yet perfectly successful means of illumination. Gas, of course, will never be displaced where gas can be had; but among the many, even in our cities, and throughout the entire country outside the cities, there is no field more inviting to the inventor nor more sure in the reward he covets, than the furnishing to the public a portable illuminator, equal to gas in brilliancy, as well as cheap and available.

While the Republicar party has partially won the confidence of those by whom it was looked upon with distrust, it has lost that tone of fanaticism which attended its organization; and without lowering, its enactard or moderating its dements, has consed to fill the Slave States with wild alarm when contemplating the possibility of its success. It is not beyond possibility that the two may come together, if not for a permanent union, at least for the accomplishment of a high puspose. THE PROCESSION TO THE GALLOWS.

At ten minutes past 11 o'clock the procession started from the prison in the following order: First came the Sheriff, followed by Gambrill and Corrie, then Crop, and last of all the negro, Cyphus. The culprits were attired in black clothes, each having a shawl of the same color thrown over his shoulders to concess the pinions. They walked with a firm step through the file of spectators. Cambrill appecially was manly and collected, and attracted much attention.

The prisoners were very pale, but all bore up with remarkable firmness as the cortege slowly passed on its way to the scaffold.

passed on its way to the scaffold.

INMERSE CHOMD OF APECTATORS.

Soon the multitude or the outside caught a gimpse of the procession, and a suppressed shudder run through the frames of fifty through the state of the scaffold the streets were lined with that I this day beheld. For half a nulle on every side of the scaffold the streets were lined with men, women, and children. The rich and poor alike crowded forward in order to obtain a view of the proceedings, yet the strictest order appeared to reign saving that mighty gathering—all were breathless with attention. The house-tings in the vicinity were black with human beings in the scaffold. If was an impossing and mediancholy spectacle.

ARRIVAL AT THE SCAPPOLD.

And now the procession reaches the front of the scalfold. The Sheriff, in company with Gambrill, first ascends the steps. Then Corrie followed, slowly, but unfaltering. Next comes Crop, a stout, thick set man—a perfect model of physical strength. He, too, seems collected, but there is not that aire of composure and resignation about him which characterized Gambrill. He appears the most nervous of the party. The negro reaches the gallows last, and ranges himself by the side of Crop. He appears self-possessed, but like Crop, is somewhat agitated.

vanorus was the first to break the silence which reigned supreme at that mement. Stepping forward to the front of the platform, in a clear and manly voice, which could be heard far and near, he thus addressed the immense guthering:

Fellow citizens—I am about to die, but before God I am a innocant man. When you see this trap fall from under me, you will see an innocent man depart from you. Good-bye, fellow-citizens, good-bye!

The culprit then resumed his place in the line, when Crop advanced a pace or two and sang a hymn, in which all joined.

Gambrill's voice was especially clear, sounding louder and more distinct than Crop's even. At the close of the hymn Crop exclaimed "Farewell," in a loud voice, in which he was followed by Corrie and Gambrill.

CYPHUS ALSO ASSERTS HIS INCOCENCE. Cyphus then stepped forward, and addressin the crowd as follows:—"You are now going to hang another innocent man. I was wrongfully convicted, and an new to be unjustly published Thank God, Phave the opportunity of telling you all that I am innocent man. Farewell. THE LAST OF EARTH.

The fall varied in each case from four to five feet. Gambrill and Corrie, who had the lowest fall, appeared to suffer last. Indeed, their bodies were motionless three minutes after the trap fell. With Crop and Cyphus the case was different. They had a fall of fully five feet, yet they struggled violently for six or saven minutes. Crop especially delet very hard, and his spaams sent a cold shudder through all who were spectators of the awful scene. Cyphus, too, struggled hard, his body swinging to and fro in the sir, and presented a most horrible picture. for in the arr, and presented a moss norrous pictures.

As the platform fell a suppressed wall burst from the assembled multifude. Then, all was still as death itself. The struggles of the dying men were watched with branthless attention; and not a word was spoken above a whisper, until all signs of life bad gradually ceased. Intentity that wast concourse grased upon the bodies of the criminals, as they dangied high in mid air and remained fixed in their positions, until the corpses were lowered and removed from their sights.

small groves of oaks, passing no villages, and only a few houses, which were mostly tawerns.
At Stevenson's, it being nearly 12 o clock, we stopped for dinner and then proceeded on to St.
Cloud, where we arrived about 8 P. M. and put up at the Stearma House. This is a new and handsome building, and occupies a commanding position on the west side of the Mississispil, and the riews from the upper part of the house both up and down the river are very extensive and picturesque.
St. Cloud lies on the west side of the Missis-St. Cloud lies on the west side of the Missis-St. touch lies on the west side of the Mississippi and is quite a new place, but by far the most important point on the river above St. Authony's. A TWO-BARBELLED COURT.

B. F. Parks of Aurora, was lately elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Auror and Elgin. The election was held by authoris of an act of the last Legislature, which act als dispossessed the old Judges—A. C. Gibson and C. H. Morgan—of their seats on the Bench. O Monday, Judge Parks attempted to open Course in Elgin, but found one of the old Judges, Mogan, in possession of the docket, and he refuss to give way to his lawful successor, allegis foolishly enough for a lawyer, that he had be elected for four years, and that no power le than death could shorten the term of his offic A contest between the big wigs was the natur result. It was maintained with great animatic on each side, for a couple of hours, durit which time, with a pecuniary recklessmess pe feetly astonishing in those bord imms, shap fine each other several thousand dollars a-pisc After both had become weary of the fon, it Sheriff adjourned the Court during much ecitement among the speciators of the seen The latest advices are to the effect that Morgy has hanled off discomfitted, that Parks is "goth it alone;" that all fines have been remitted, as that everybody is jolly.
